Bun-throw fun draws a crowd of thousands

By Dominic Thomas

A CROWD of 4,500 turned out on Saturday to celebrate the Queen's 90th Birthday in Abingdon with the town's tradition of bun-throwing.

The event, organised by Abingdon Town Council, saw dignitaries including town mayor Alice Badcock and Oxford West and Abingdon MP Nicola Blackwood throw 4,500 buns from the roof of County Hall.

Bun throwing is an Abingdon tradition dating back to 1761 when it celebrated the Coronation of King George III and has since been held on 36 royal occasions.

Among those in the crowd was Nicola Roberts, 35, of Steventon, who said: "We're looking forward to celebrating the Queen's birthday and hoping to catch a bun!

"My family are all here and my parents have come from Blackpool this weekend.

"I'm a bit of a traditionalist, it's a nice tradition to have in the town to celebrate and bring people together."

Mayor Miss Badcock, who had the honour of throwing the first bun, said: "We always look forward to such a traditional Abingdon event.

"When I became elected mayor, the first thing I said was 'Does this mean I can throw buns now?'"

"It's such a special honour to take part in because you can only do it if you're elected. It's a lovely tradition and one unique to Abingdon.

"It's extra special to take part as mayor. I went along when I was younger when my dad was mayor and now I get to repeat that."

Joining the dignitaries on the roof was twice bun-throwing world champion Selina Wallis, 33, of Culham, who won last week's championships at Abingdon Vale Cricket Club.

She said: "I enjoyed it so much here to see so many people coming out, and it's always the same, even when it rained last time.

"It's great to get together to celebrate like this, I think it brings people together, when sometimes there's not so much to celebrate.

"I'm very excited to be here. It's actually my husband's birthday today and we had a party which I've ditched to come here."

Also taking part in the quirky tradition was Reserve Army Sgt Julie Mann, of 7th Battalion, The Rifles, who hold the Freedom of Abingdon.

She added: "I've lived in Abingdon for 20 years and I've been before to catch the buns so it's ever so exciting.

"It's an honour. We have been involved in many events celebrating the Queen's birthday in the last week and to get the chance to take part in the bun-throwing today was fantastic."

Meanwhile, the town's MP Miss Blackwood paid tribute to the Queen on her birthday, saying: "Bun throwing is a great Abingdon tradition, and we only have it on the great occasions such as the Queen's birthday.

"She has served the United Kingdom for 63 years as Queen and given the most outstanding service to the people."

Miss Blackwood added: "It's great for the people of Abingdon to have the opportunity to celebrate her life and service in this way."

economy and immigration.

A Didcot man, who did not want to give his name, said: "I'm concerned about sovereignty, but not in a jingoistic way. I just think there's a sweet spot in terms of the size of any organisation before it becomes ineffective, and I don't feel comfortable being part of a block that big."

Another resident said: "I think it's good to be part of the EU for trade reasons but I don't think they should be able to control what we do.

"We used to have complete control over things, but now we have to accept things that are not compatible with us. I wouldn't impose my culture on anybody else so why should we let Europe do it to us?"

However, others were undecided, including Adam Hellier, 24, of Didcot, who said: "The thing that might sway me is the fact that in my job we trade with a lot of countries in the EU so it does affect me in that way."

There were a minority of voices in favour of 'Remain'.

Didcot resident Dave Hunt said: "I don't trust the people in charge of the Leave campaign, it will still cost us money to trade with the rest of the EU from outside so we wouldn't save any money, and I don't think immigration is a problem."

The results were in contrast to similar polls taken in Henley and Wallingford this week.

The Henley poll found 48 per cent were pro-Remain, while 42 per cent backed leaving and 10 per cent were undecided.

Meanwhile, in Wallingford, there was an even split of 41 per cent for both sides, with the remaining 18 per cent undecided.

The polls in all three towns were collected as the Vote Leave campaign's Boris Johnson visited his former constituency in Henley aboard his battle bus.

ALLIE SPRULES, 23, OF WANTAGE, AND BEN MCNEIL, 21, OF DIDCOT

"I don't know to be honest. It's just there's good points on both sides. I'm more remain at the moment because I think most people who are voting to leave are voting because they think that it will mean there will be no more immigration, but that's not going to happen, that's not how it works. Its like the whole Donald Trump thing. But at the moment we're still making our minds up."

ERICA FRANCIS, 33, DIDCOT

"The fact that I've worked in Europe and in America means I definitely see the benefits of remaining but on the other hand they are unelected and I read earlier that something like 53 per cent of our laws since 1975 have been decided by the EU."

Experts chosen to create Didcot Garden Town

By Katriona Ormiston

A TEAM of planning and infrastructure experts has been tasked with creating Didcot Garden Town, leaders announced yesterday.

Planning and development specialists Quod have been appointed by South Oxfordshire and Vale of White Horse district councils as the chief consultants to progress infrastructure, housing and the creation of green space in Didcot.

Didcot was awarded 'Garden Town' status by the Government in December last year.

The title means it is to be treated as a 'priority' so developments including a £35 million bridge over the railway line and £12m northern perimeter road link could be fastracked.

Quod will have a team including advisers drawn from other organisations.

Over the next six months, the team will produce a project plan setting out a detailed timetable of the work to be carried out.

The project is being led by South Oxfordshire District Council and is funded by the Government. So far, £470,000 has been given for the planning stages of the project.

SODC leader John Cotton said: "This is a vital project for southern Oxfordshire which will bring significant benefits for the local and wider community and I know many people are keen to see what's going to happen.

"The team we've appointed to lead Didcot Garden Town have been behind some major regeneration and infrastructure projects around the country. We are delighted to have them on board and look forward to seeing the plans come together over the coming months."

The delivery plan should be ready by spring 2017 and will outline ways for residents to get involved with the project.

Traffic scheme given green light by council

• Proposal for the Access to Headington scheme

By George Welch

A £12.5 MILLION 'Access to Headington' project that aims to ease congestion in the area has been given the green light by Oxfordshire County Council.

Plans for the scheme were unveiled last July in an attempt to improve travel to major employment, health and education sites.

And, now, the required Traffic Regulation Orders (TROs) have been approved. The council hope to start construction later this year.

The targeted area includes the B4495 from Cherwell Drive/ Marsh Lane to Horspath Driftway, the Eastern Bypass as well as Old Road.

The project includes a 'transport corridor improvement' programme consisting of a number of improvements, including junction upgrades, cycling facilities, and pedestrian crossings.

David Nimmo Smith, cabinet member for transport, said: "Access to Headington is a major investment in the local transport infrastructure – it is needed in order to support new jobs and housing in the area without attracting new traffic to the area.

"The focus of the scheme is on enabling sustainable transport not encouraging more cars or vehicles."

The construction work is expected to take place in stages rather than as one project, in an effort to minimise disruption.

The scheme is part of the wider Oxford Transport Strategy that encourages more walking, cycling and public transport use.

The county council are set to release more information on start dates, locations and specific construction work done shortly.

Following a meeting between councillors and members of the public, it has also been agreed that the county council would continue consultation on introducing a 20mph limit in Windmill Road, in addition to looking again at the possibility of parking on part of The Slade.

Winner tells of thrill to design hospice garden

A DIDCOT gardener has won a competition to design a garden for Oxford hospice charity Helen and Douglas House.

Nicola Wakefield's idea was chosen as the winner for the feature at the hospice, off Cowley Road, which cares for terminally-ill children and young adults from birth up to 35 years old.

The contest was open to alumni of the KLC School of Design, where Nicola trained, and was organised by Greenfingers, a charity dedicated to creating inspiring gardens for children's hospices.

The idea is to give the children a chance to spend time in the natural environment away from their bedside.

Nicola's Kaleidoscope design impressed the judges, who asked the entrants to submit designs for an outdoor retreat to enable children in beds and wheelchairs to spend time in the garden all year round.

The judging panel was made up of gardener Ann Marie Powell, members of the hospice staff and a recently-bereaved mother, who gave insights into how the space could fit the children's needs.

Nicola said: "I am thrilled to have won the Greenfingers competition. It is an amazing opportunity and I'm hugely excited about it.

"Helen and Douglas House is a very special place to be creating a garden."

Landlord fined

OXFORD: A landlord of an unlicensed house in multiple occupation (HMO) has been ordered to pay fines of £9,390 and costs of £1,745.

Kazi Arafat Ahmed, 28, of Barn Close, Oxford, pleaded guilty to managing an unlicensed HMO and six breaches of the HMO management regulations on 7 June.

An Oxford City Council investigation discovered four tenants living in his unlicensed HMO in Brook View.

It found the property had no working smoke alarms or a fire door, and four other defects.

Blaze shuts road

BEGBROKE: Firefighters tackled a lorry fire which closed part of the A44 near Begbroke on Monday.

The lorry carrying rubble had caught fire, producing thick smoke, when the fire crews arrived on the scene shortly after 4.30pm.

The blaze was quickly brought under control and the northbound carriageway reopened.

Map on show

OXON: Lord of the Rings fans have a chance to see a recently discovered map of Middle Earth on display in Oxford for one day only.

The map is annotated by The Hobbit and Lord of the Rings author JRR Tolkien and will be on show at the Bodleian Libraries on June 23.

The map went unseen for decades until October 2015 when Blackwell's Rare Books in Oxford offered it for sale.

It had belonged to Pauline Baynes (1922-2008), the celebrated illustrator who was the only artist approved by Tolkien to illustrate his works during his lifetime.

The map will be on display from 9.30am until 5pm in the Bodleian's Weston Library

Sticker duo draw to raise charity funds

By Dominic Thomas

AN Oxford couple who drew their own version of the entire World Cup sticker album are picking up their pencils again for Euro 2016.

Husband and wife Alex and Sian Pratchett, of Iffley Road, are planning to draw all 800 players by hand over the course of the tournament - this time for charity.

They documented their World Cup exploits with an online blog as a revolt against the price of the official Panini stickers.

Alex said: "It started off as a funny cost-saving exercise but started to take over our lives more and more.

"It was a bit like having two jobs, one of which was slightly confusing and pointless."

They said they were persuaded into doing a Euro version by their friends, but said: "We're slightly dreading doing it again, but it's all for charity this time.

"It's given us a bit of a motivation being able to help others and given us the sort of kick we needed."

Each of their hand-drawn stickers takes about 15 minutes to complete, so between them they plan to put in 200 hours of drawing over the month-long tournament.

Alex added: "We are into the football and were looking forward to watching it but we might not have that much time to.

"We're both from Newport originally so we'll be supporting Wales, and following them in between doodles. We're taking Thursday off for the Wales v England match.

"We've also got some inconsiderate friends who've decided to get married and have birthdays as well this month, but hopefully they won't mind us being there scribbling away."

Despite the interest in their endeavors, they aren't tempted to start selling their stickers.

"During the World Cup, we saw pictures online of people printing them out and sticking them in their albums which made us laugh," said Alex.

"There is the potential for us to make some money out of it but obviously the real Panini stickers would probably have something to say about that.

"So we're just happy that it gets people to engage with each other and hopefully raise some money for some special causes."

Both Alex and Sian work in the charity sector and will be raising money for their respective charities, Cancer Research UK and learning disability charity, MacIntyre.

You can follow their doodlings on Twitter at @Cheap-Panini and donate to their charity effort at: http://tiny-url.com/jxf8ckp

Drivers given warning of overnight closure for junction work

ROADWORKS started last night to resurface and maintain the Botley Interchange.

The £260,000 work on the roundabout joining the A34 and A420 will be carried out in two phases overnight between 9pm and 6am.

It will include drainage repairs, replacing road markings, and traffic signal loops carried out by Oxfordshire County Council (OCC).

Phase one started last night and will last until Saturday morning. Lane closures will be in place but the road will remain open

As part of phase two from June 27 for two weeks, the road will be closed with a diversion in place.

OCC's cabinet member for transport David Nimmo Smith said: Areas of the carriageway at the A420 Botley interchange have started to fail. Early intervention now, and investing around £260,000, will help to maintain the existing road surface so that more disruptive and costly work isn't needed in the near future.

"The work is being done at nights so that traffic is disrupted as little as possible."

Schools' art to mark occasion

PUPILS have been using their artistic talents to mark the Queen's 90th birthday.

The chairman of Oxfordshire County Council Michael Waine arranged for each Bicester school to produce canvasses depicting each decade of the Queen's life in celebration of her birthday.

The canvasses will now go on display at County Hall.

Pupils from the schools were at County Hall last Thursday to watch the pop-up gallery opened by the Lord Lieutenant, Tim Stevenson, the Queen's representative in Oxfordshire.

Bicester councillor Mr Waine said: "Having already seen some of the artwork, I can confirm that it is of a very high standard and I am sure councillors, council employees and members of the public will enjoy it a great deal."

From the beginning of July, the artwork will be moved to Bicester's new library in time for its official opening.

Honoured for service

By Dominic Thomas

EIGHTEEN Oxfordshire residents have been honoured in the Queen's Birthday Honours list.

Three Oxford University fellows received the highest honour of knighthoods and damehoods on the list announced on Friday.

University Emeritus fellow Dr Larry Allan Siedentop received a knighthood for services to political science, along with President of Magdalen College, Professor David Charles Clary, for services to international science, and former principal of Lady Margaret Hall, Dr Frances Lannon, who was made a dame for her services to higher education.

Eleven Oxfordshire residents were awarded with an OBE from a range of different backgrounds from Catherine Elizabeth Johnstone, of the Samaritans, who was honoured for her services to suicide prevention, to Claire Williams, deputy principal of the Grove-based Williams Martini Racing team, for services to Formula 1.

Abingdon resident and Scout volunteer Tim Kidd, who was awarded an OBE, said: "It's a massive privilege to accept this award on behalf of all the fantastic volunteers across the UK.

"I am looking forward to making sure as many young people as possible can take part in the life-changing adventure that is Scouting."

Tim, who is deputy UK commissioner for the Scouts, added: "I've been a Scout all my life, since the age of eight, and for the last 24 years I've been involved in it at a national level, and I still like to keep in touch with the Abingdon Scouts groups, who are doing some very good work.

He added: "For me, motivated, positive adults are key to ensuring that we reach as many young people as possible, and so it's vital that our volunteer team continues to be motivated and engaged in the movement."

Three more Oxfordshire residents were also awarded British Empire Medals for their civil services to the community, including Robert Green, of Abingdon, Ted Short, of Banbury and Charles Williams, of Burford.

Pupils celebrate

OXON: Pupils from a specialist school in Begbroke enjoyed a day out at the world's biggest street party at the Patron's Lunch on The Mall to celebrate the Queen's 90th birthday.

Holly Balchin and Eddie Dancer, who both attend LVS Oxford, a school for children diagnosed with autism, Asperger's and dyslexia, and two staff members cheered the Queen at her procession and enjoyed a special lunch.

Holly and Eddie were selected to represent the school due to their contribution to school life.

Civic celebration

OXFORD: More than 500 people celebrated the Queen's 90th birthday at a service at Christ Church Cathedral and a reception at Oxford Town Hall on Saturday.

Residents born in the same year - 1926 - joined dignitaries for the festivities hosted by Lord Mayor of Oxford Mohammed Altaf-Khan.

The Very Reverend Professor Martyn Percy, Dean of Christ Church, Oxford, gave a civic sermon, saying: "Like all of us gathered here today, I marvel at the Queen's schedule – her tireless devotion to duty, and the range of people and places she visits and engages with in any given year."

Trust admits its responsibility for boy's death

THE charity Inquest that helped the family of Oxford teenager Connor Sparrowhawk fight for the truth about his death has warned that others without anyone to battle for them would not get justice.

It has backed Connor's family in their struggle for accountability since the 18-year-old died at an Oxford facility in the care of Southern Health NHS Foundation Trust.

Connor, who had learning disabilities and autism, drowned in a bath after an epileptic fit at Slade House in Headington on July 4, 2013. The facility has now closed.

Since Connor's death, his mum Sara Ryan and Inquest have been campaigning for those answerable for his death to be held to account.

Last Thursday, almost three years later, Southern Health admitted responsibility, said they were "deeply sorry" and promised to pay £80,000 in compensation to Connor's family.

The Inquest charity said: "The truth only came about as a result of the family's fight for it."

By Katriona Ormiston

It added: "What about those who have no one to fight for them? The ongoing failure to set up a process whereby deaths of learning disabled and mental health patients are independently investigated sends a message out that these lives do not matter."

Connor's family launched a 'Justice for LB' campaign - LB is a reference to Laughing Boy, a nickname used for the Headington teenager who attended Wheatley's John Watson School - which was raised in Parliament on May 3, alongside a report on Southern Health's failings.

The Trust's statement said: "Connor Sparrowhawk died while in our care, for which we are deeply sorry, and we would like to take this opportunity to again offer our unreserved apologies to his family for his preventable death."

It also said his death was the result of multiple systemic and individual failures by the Trust, which included lack of leadership at the Short Term Assessment and Treatment (STATT) unit where he was staying and a lack of training for staff about epilepsy.

An inquest into Connor's death in October also heard just before his death a decision was made that observation checks on Connor could drop from every 10 minutes to be hourly.

The family's solicitor Charlotte Haworth Hird, of Bindmans, said: "This full admission finally shows what Connor's family have known for years – that Connor and they were repeatedly failed by Southern Health.

"It comes after a three year struggle by Connor's family."

She added: "Connor's family have had to learn of the harrowing circumstances of his time at the STATT unit and of his death.

"In the face of that horror, they have remained dignified and dedicated to ensuring that no other individual receives the treatment that Connor and they have."

Bus project gains award

A BANBURY community project that has been running for more than two decades supporting thousands of people every year has won an award.

Banbury and District Community Bus Project, which provides mobile play and after-school facilities to children, picked up the Charity and Community category in the Cherwell Business Awards.

But the award was not all it received on the night – the charity, based at East Street Children's Centre, was also given the proceeds of a raffle totalling £1,100.

Cllr Lynn Pratt, Cherwell's lead member for estates and the economy, said: "The Cherwell Business Awards is an impressive showcase of those who are driving the district's vibrant and innovative economy forward.

"Our sponsorship of the Charity and Community Award is a way of celebrating enterprises that have made a sustained and outstanding contribution to Cherwell's social fabric. The Play Bus is a longstanding focal point of our children's lives, as demonstrated by the fact that many of its users have gone on to volunteer with the service as adults."

The bus project was founded in 1998, and last year supported 4,486 adults and children across the community.

The winner of Cherwell Business of the Year 2016, which was held last month in the grounds of Begbroke Science Park, was Bicester-based baking ingredients manufacturer British Bakels Ltd.

Weight-loss champion walks to put on pounds for charity

• Cameron McCulloch at 26 stone with his mum Margaret McCulloch

• Cameron McCulloch lost 10 stones after surgery

By Katriona Ormiston

JUST over a year ago Cameron McCulloch weighed 26 stone, was registered disabled and often could not face getting out of bed.

But the Wantage granddad is now nearing the end of an 87-mile charity hike along the Ridgeway, after shedding 10 stone and turning his life around.

Mr McCulloch and his four-legged companion Archie area trekking from Buckinghamshire through Oxfordshire to Wiltshire in a fundraising quest for Eynsham-based charity HENRY (Health, Exercise and Nutrition in the Really Young).

The 48-year-old from Smiths Wharf was classed as morbidly obese eight years ago and listed as disabled in 2013.

The turning point was having weight-loss surgery in March 2015, which sparked Mr McCulloch into action to shed the pounds through exercise and diet.

He said: "It is like having the best drug in the world, where energy and enthusiasm just pour from you and allows you to do so many more things.

"You can't quantify the change. It's like going from being trapped to being free. That's the only way to describe it."

His walk started at Ivinghoe Beacon on Sunday and finishes tomorrow at Overton Hill in Avebury. The hike also coincides with men's health week this week.

Mr McCulloch, dad to 25-year-old Fraser and six-year-old Taylor, has already raised more than £1,400 towards his £2,500 target.

He has walked about 15 miles each day, staying at home overnight and being shuttled back to where he ended the night before. He has about 11 miles left to reach the finish line.

The former King Alfred's Academy pupil played football, cricket and rugby in teams at school and became a fan of weightlifting and bodybuilding.

But after injuring his back in 2002, Mr McCulloch started gaining weight. The former car salesman of 20 years left work in 2008 at about 22 stone after finding it too difficult to carry on.

He had bariatric surgery to reduce the size of the stomach by removing part of it.

He said: "I would look out of the window of my top-floor flat and see people walking up and down the street easily. And that's all I wanted to do, that's what I wanted from the surgery.

"I used to walk 30 yards and I would be out of breath and in agony. Now I can walk for hours and hours. My life has taken off.

"I wouldn't go out for three or four days at a time, but the other day one of my friends called me a machine because I don't stop now."

Mr McCulloch has since taken up walking and cycling again.

The Monday following the hike, he is launching his own business called The Handy Gent, carrying out handyman work.

Next year's mission could be trekking the 83 miles of Hadrian's Wall also for HENRY.

Dance moves prove hit

A VIDEO of a Thame pub manager dancing in his underpants has become an Internet sensation.

Assistant manager Nathan Swift, also called Swifty, is seen watering the garden at The James Figg with a hose while strutting his stuff.

Dancing to Justin Timberlake's 'Can't Stop The Feeling', Nathan wiggles his bottom, shimmies around the garden and adds his own disco moves.

Nathan's dance moves had been viewed 10,000 times just three hours after the video posted on social networking site Facebook.

By Samantha McGregor

By the first 24 hours, it had reached 60,000 views. This week, the number of views had reached more than 260,000 and had been covered by press around the world, including the Daily Star, the Irish Examiner and News of Chicago. The video was also posted on an Australian TV network's Facebook page.

Nathan originally agreed to appear in the video to create a bit of publicity for Bank Holiday activities at the pub in Cornmarket, Thame.

Landlord Tom Goldsmith said: "What started out as just a bit of a laugh has become something really huge.

"Nathan only really did it to quash the rumours that it was him appearing in a similar video of a man dancing to the same song by a swimming pool, which also went viral.

"Now, he's become an Internet star in his own right, with thousands of comments, likes and shares, and is hoping he'll get to a million views. He even had a message from the original guy, Jeremy Morse, congratulating him on his performance."

On Australia Today TV's Facebook page, the post said: "This bloke is our spirit animal. What about those moves. We're mesmerised. LEGEND! Happy Hump Day folks!"

In another post, from the USA, Christine Gallagher said "Loving this from Detroit Michigan!! I WISH I had his confidence! I showed my 15-year-old daughter and she, so blasé as only a teenager can be, says, " oh yeah! LOVE that guy! His hips are ON FIRE!" High praise indeed..... please keep dancing you make ME want to dance!!"

To view the video go the James Figg's Facebook page.

Nature reserve given boost of £41,000 grant for signs

A BICESTER nature reserve is set to be easier to navigate after it won a £41,000 grant.

In a joint application by Cherwell district and Bicester town councils, the cash was donated to Bure Park Nature Reserve by environmental body WREN.

The money will be used to buy 17 fingerpost-style signs and five interpretation signs.

The idea is to make the nature reserve more accessible, guide visitors around it and encourage more people to visit.

Cllr Barry Wood, leader of Cherwell District Council, said: "This is a significant amount of funding which will facilitate vital improvements to one of Bicester's largest and best-loved public spaces.

"This nature reserve is the only one of its kind in Bicester. Not only does it enhance residents' journeys as they travel to connected destinations such as the primary school and local centre, it also plays a vital role in stimulating the area's biodiversity.

"The new interpretation signs will offer a guide to the flora, fauna and ecology of the nature reserve, encouraging people to identify and appreciate the diverse species that call it home."

Residents were consulted earlier this year and a signage audit took place to look at areas that needed improved signs.

The Bicester Wayfinding scheme, which is looking at all the town's signage and how it can be improved to make the town more navigable on foot and by bicycle.

Drivers fined for bridge use

SIX lorry drivers who breached weight restrictions by using weak bridges in Oxfordshire have been ordered to pay almost £4,000 in costs at Oxford Magistrates' Court.

Residents handed evidence of the HGV violations over the bridges in Charlbury and Newbridge to Oxfordshire County Council's trading standards team, who prosecuted the men.

Charlbury bridge has a 7.5-tonne limit and Newbridge is a grade II listed scheduled ancient monument, with an 18-tonne limit. All six pleaded guilty and were ordered to pay £3,865 in fines and costs, and a seventh case was withdrawn.

Trading Standards operations manager Jody Kerman said: "The majority of our cases now come from concerned members of the public.

"I think this shows the level of potential harm and disruption that can come from heavy goods vehicles using unsuitable roads.

"The vast majority of drivers understand and obey weight restriction areas but, those who don't, not only pose a danger but also gain a competitive advantage over those who follow the rules."

Adam Williams, 24, of Bampton, Oxfordshire, drove a 32-tonne HGV over Charlbury bridge on November 3, 2015. He was ordered to pay £780 in total.

Daron James Woodley, 46, of Curbridge, Oxfordshire, also drove a 32-tonne HGV over the same bridge the same day and was also ordered to pay £780.

Paul Andrew Keogh, 50, of Swindon, Wiltshire, drove a 44-tonne lorry over Charlbury bridge on December 8, 2015. He was ordered to pay £700.

Jaskarn Singh, 23, of Slough, Berkshire, drove a 32-tonne HGV over Charlbury bridge on December 10, 2015. He was ordered to pay £480.

Darren Graham Watts, 45, of Swindon, Wiltshire, drove a 32-tonne lorry over Charlbury bridge on October 30, 2015. He was ordered to pay £590.

Leonard Charles Wood, 58, of Newport, Wales, drove a 26-tonne HGV over the bridge at Newbridge on October 22, 2015. He was ordered to pay £535.

The trading standards team is urging HGV drivers to check the Oxfordshire Freight Gateway http://freightgateway.co.uk/oxfordshire/ to plan journeys.

Hero celebrated on new £5 note

OXFORDSHIRE-BORN Prime Minister and national icon Sir Winston Churchill will feature on new £5 bank notes coming into circulation in September.

The wartime statesman and former Blenheim Palace resident will be depicted on newly-designed polymer notes.

The full design was unveiled on June 2, and features his portrait along with a view of Westminster from the South Bank, his Nobel Prize medal and the words 'I have nothing to offer but blood, toil, tears and sweat'.

The quote is taken from his House of Commons speech on May 13, 1940, with the pictured clock tower set to the time of the speech at 3pm.

Bank of England governor Mervyn King said at the initial announcement: "Our banknotes acknowledge the life and work of great Britons.

"Sir Winston Churchill was a truly great British leader, orator and writer. Above that, he remains a hero of the entire free world. His energy, courage, eloquence, wit and public service are an inspiration to us all."

Sir Winston who was born at Blenheim Palace, Woodstock, and buried at nearby Bladon, has been featured on currency before, becoming the first non-royal to feature on a coin in 1965, when his portrait was on the crown, or five-shilling piece.

The new notes will come into circulation on September 13 with the old cotton-paper ones, which show social reformer Elizabeth Fry, going out of circulation by May 2017.

The Bank of England said their introduction would make the notes safer, cleaner and stronger, and also use various elements such as size and colours to assist people who were visually impaired.

The polymer notes are manufactured from a transparent plastic film, coated with an ink layer that enables it to carry the printed design features of bank notes, and includes clear 'windows' to protect against counterfeits.

A new polymer £10 note featuring novelist Jane Austen will be released next year later with a new polymer £20 note introduced in 2020.

Bubbles could help to defeat cancer growth

RESEARCHERS are developing a bubbly drink to help radiotherapy and chemotherapy deliver a knock-out blow to beat cancers.

The researchers at Oxford University and Ulster University are creating a liquid with oxygen microbubbles to distribute extra oxygen to the site of the tumour.

As tumours grow, the blood vessels that deliver essential nutrients, including oxygen, become twisted and weak.

This means some tumours have learnt to adapt to harsher, low-oxygen conditions making them more resistant to drugs, so chemotherapy fails to attack the heart of the tumour properly.

The scientists are investigating how oxygen bubbles get from the stomach to pancreatic tumours in the laboratory and working out whether this could be done by giving patients the equivalent of a bubbly drink.

Professor Eleanor Stride, a Cancer Research UK scientist at the University of Oxford, said: "We're especially excited about the potential this bubbly drink could have for hard to treat cancers like pancreatic cancer, where survival rates are low and better treatments are urgently needed."

Giant warehouses plan turned down

By Samantha McGregor

PLANS to build giant warehouses on the edge of three housing estates have been thrown out by councillors.

Albion Land wanted to build 53,000sqm of warehouses, up to 16.5m tall, for light industry, general industrial and warehouse and distribution use.

Cherwell' District Council's planning officers had recommended the site, off Howes Lane and Middleton Stoney Road, for approval despite a string of objections.

These included inappropriate development in a residential area, the road infrastructure not coping with an increase in traffic and the proposal being contrary to the local plan.

But after a long debate last Thursday councillors went against the officers' advice and rejected the outline planning application.

Peter Frampton, for Albion Land, said the development would provide jobs and help fund road improvements in the area.

He told the planning meeting that the warehousing would not be "oppressive or overbearing", but acknowledged the "outlook" for residents would change. However, he said he felt it would be "acceptable".

Richard Mould opposed the application and said the warehouses would be the same height as four to five double-decker buses stacked on top of each other.

Cllr Catherine Fulljames, who spoke on behalf of all the county councillors representing Bicester and the surrounding villages, said they all opposed the plan.

She said: "Please refuse this application, please look at the bigger picture of Bicester and please do not damage Bicester any more."

Mrs Fulljames said large warehousing should be built at MOD Bicester.

Lynn Pratt said the site would trigger more vehicles and increased emissions.

She pointed out Bicester had garden and healthy town status but said: "a development such as this does not fit in with this status".

The site adjoins the North West Bicester eco homes settlement and Albion Land owns part of the land needed for the realignment of Howes Lane.

As part of the eco development, a new road will be built opposite Howes Lane, a tunnel will be built under the railway embankment, and a new junction created at Bucknell Road and Lords Lane.

A trigger of 900 homes and 40 per cent employment has been set by Oxfordshire County Council to say when work should start on the realigned road.

Debbie Pickford said she wanted assurance that the cash was guaranteed for the rail tunnel before any building work took place.

The meeting was told eco town developer A2Dominion was working with the Government's Homes and Communities Agency to deliver the re-aligned Howes Lane and tunnel.

The application was originally due to be decided in January, but was deferred for officers to discuss reducing the amount of B8 warehousing and distribution.

Care fund boost

NORTH OXON: More cash is available for residents who need adaptations to their homes.

Changes in the way the Disabled Facilities Grants (DFGs) is funded mean that Cherwell District Council is to get more from the Oxfordshire Better Care Fund.

This year's budget has increased by 47 per cent to £1.22 million.

New office opens

CHIPPING NORTON: Environmental planning and forestry consultancy Lockhart Garratt has opened its first Oxfordshire office in Chipping Norton.

The firm provides specialist technical advice on arboriculture, ecology, landscape architecture, forestry, woodland management and land restoration.

To celebrate its new office opening, residents were invited to a drinks reception on Friday.

Blooming carnival

THAME: Thame was a sea of red, white and blue blooms for the carnival thanks to the town council's maintenance team who planted 1,800 in the run-up to the event.

Town mayor Linda Emery helped with the planting to ensure the town was ready to celebrate the Queen's birthday at the 'Best of British' carnival.

Held at Southern Road Recreation Ground, Saturday's carnival and Big Street Party included activities and a car crash rescue demonstration by firefighters.

Support urged for forces

PEOPLE across Oxfordshire are being urged to mark Armed Forces Day and show the county's support to the services.

On Monday, a flag will be raised in a ceremony at Oxford Castle at 11am to celebrate Oxfordshire's Armed Forces.

Senior representatives from Oxford University Officers Training Corps, RAF Brize Norton, Bicester Garrison, Abingdon Station, Dalton Barracks, Shrivenham Station HQ, 7th Rifles, the Royal Navy and military cadets from across the county will attend the ceremony.

They will stand beside local dignitaries including Michael Waine, chairman of Oxfordshire County Council, the Lord Lieutenant of Oxfordshire, Tim Stevenson, Sarah Taylor, High Sheriff of Oxfordshire, Superintendent Kath Lowe and councillors from across the county.

Councillor Michael Waine said: "Oxfordshire is a county with a very long tradition of strong connections with the armed forces.

"It is right that we in Oxfordshire should join with the rest of the nation on an annual basis to recognise the part that the forces play in our day to day lives as well as in protecting the country."

He added: "As county councillor for Bicester town, I fully realise the important part played by our armed services in the life of our nation.

"Bicester, as a garrison town, has extremely strong links with the Army and past links with the RAF.

"The armed forces are definitely part of our community belonging to local organisations, attending local churches, and with their children attending local schools."

National Care Home Feature

Care Home Open Day is coming

CARE Home Open Day is taking place for the 4th time on 17th June 2016.

The suggested theme this year is "Celebration". You can decide what you would like to celebrate. You can link your events to the Queen's 90th Birthday street party celebrations, the Olympic Games in Rio, celebrate the lives of your residents, the European Football Championship, or anything else you would like to celebrate!

Good care homes do great things all year round and this one day is to highlight what you do within your local communities.

So, get your thinking caps on, get your residents, their families, staff and your friends in the local community involved in deciding what you would like to do for the day, and get planning!

Registration is now open www.carehomeopenday.org.uk

TESTIMONIALS

"Care Home Open Day is an important opportunity to celebrate the unwavering and dedicated efforts of the people who work in the sector, and to invite our local communities to experience first-hand the contribution care professionals make to supporting older and vulnerable people."

Minister for Community and Social Care Alistair Burt MP

Sudoku

The objective is to fill a 9×9 grid with digits so that each column, each row, and each of the nine 3×3 sub-grids that compose the grid (also called "boxes", "blocks", "regions", or "sub-squares") contains all of the digits from 1 to 9. The puzzle setter provides a partially completed grid, which for a well-posed puzzle has a unique solution.

COMEDY AT THE NORTHCOURT NEEDS YOU

The popular Out of Bounds comedy Acts used to be held monthly at the Abingdon Guildhall until the refurbishment of the Hall meant that they had to finish.

The NORTHCOURT entertainment venue, which also includes Music at the Northcourt (held at Abingdon United opposite the Boundary House), decided to try to continue the event so that Abingdon and area did not lose something that up to 90 people attended once a month.

The numbers have built up to 75 and a push is needed to get past the 90 mark and so it can continue in Abingdon.

If numbers don't pick up in the next two events the Comedy will have to sadly close, so if you did attend or know someone who did tell them where it is now, or if you haven't tried live comedy this is your chance to give it a go.

Don't bother to turn up if you haven't a sense of humour or don't like laughing as you would be disappointed.

So come along on Friday 17th June to see five great comics in a relaxed atmosphere, it starts at 8pm prompt at the NORTHCOURT.

Jack relishes Palace show

THIS year's Nocturne Live is expected to be one of the best series of shows ever.

With live performances from the likes of The Corrs, The Royal Philharmonic Concert Orchestra, Jack Savoretti and Elton John, thousands of music lovers from across the country are expected to travel to Blenheim Palace, Woodstock, from Thursday, June 23, to Sunday, June 26.

And for singer-songwriter Jack Savoretti, who has admitted that he had 'fallen in love with Oxfordshire', a debut performance at one of the county's most prestigious venues was an offer to good to turn down.

The 32-year-old will be performing at Blenheim Palace on Friday, June 24, supporting The Corrs.

"I haven't performed in Blenheim Palace but I did perform on the grounds for something called the 'Grand Prix Ball' last year," the musician told the Guardian.

"So to perform within the Palace is very exciting. It is just a spectacular venue.

By James Richings

"It has a great history with Winston Churchill being born there and when you look at it, you just think, 'wow'.

"It is just stunning."

Jack comes to festival to perform tracks from his latest album 'Written in Scars', which was released last April.

His latest collection of songs, to his surprise, has peaked at number seven in the UK album charts which is the highest position any of his albums have reached since his debut record, 'Between the Minds', was released nine years ago.

And with the inspiration behind 'Written in Scars' focusing on dark events that have happened in Jack's life over the last few years, the Italian-English musician believes the story he is telling through his songs will create a strong connection with his audience.

"I think the fans give you confidence," he said.

"When you show up to a place, you feel a lot better about what you do because it is just a reaction. The inspiration behind the album was about going through some tough experiences over the last couple of years, and this was a way of dealing it with it.

"It was also a way to say thank you for everyone who stuck with me on this tough journey, which hasn't been an easy ride."

"The album has been out for over a year but it has had this strange situation where it has come in and out of the charts, which has been a really nice surprise.

"I didn't think it would have that sort of weight so it has been a lovely surprise."

Jack has regularly performed in the county, and will perform at this year's Truck Festival at Hill Farm, Steventon, next month.

Best of Bond music comes to Blenheim

WHEN author Ian Fleming created secret agent James Bond back in 1953, little did he know his character would go on to become one of the world's largest franchises.

By James Richings

Over the last 63 years, Fleming's 007 books have been successfully adapted for the cinema screen, with 26 Bond films being released to date, grossing an amazing $7 billion in that time.

Now you have the chance to enjoy the best of the music from the 007 films when 'The Music from Bond' arrives at this year's Nocturne Live on Saturday, June 25.

Staged at Blenheim Palace, Woodstock, The Royal Philharmonic Concert Orchestra will be performing well-known Bond themes from films such as 'Goldfinger', 'From Russia with Love', 'Live & Let Die', 'License to Kill' and 'Casino Royal'.

And no such occasion would be complete without the quintessential Bond girl, who, for this event, comes in the shape of Fiona Fullerton, who starred in the 007 film 'A View to a Kill'.

The 59-year-old actress, who will be presenting the show, believes it is one that no Bond fan can afford to miss.

"This is an explosive performance of the entire Bond canon with me introducing each number with anecdotes and facts," the actress revealed to the Guardian.

"There will be two incredible performers singing the famous Bond themes and I'm very honoured to be hosting an event like this, and it doesn't get much better than to watch a performance by the RPO (The Royal Philharmonic Concert Orchestra)."

Fiona played agent Ola Ivanova in 'A View to a Kill', starring alongside Roger Moore, Grace Jones and Christopher Walken.

She has fond memories of her appearance in the 14th Bond film, which was released in 1985.

Since then, her acting career has seen Fiona star in a number of different television shows such as 'A Hazard of Hearts,' 'Hold the Dream' and 'To Be the Best'.

She also participated in the populat TV show 'Strictly Come Dancing' back in 2013, finishing third.

Fiona said: "My experience on 'A View to a Kill', was brief but it was also hilarious, embarrassing, funny and most importantly, memorable. And even though I only worked with Roger, he was very charming and funny.

She added: "If I could give advice to an aspiring and up-and-coming actress, I would say this: Develop a thick skin, be punctual, be tenacious and don't eat garlic the night before a love scene."

Fiona revealed that her favourite Bond movie was, in fact, 'Skyfall', because of its 'pared-down script and shocking ending'.

Tickets for 'The Music from Bond' cost from £25 to £41.25 and the show starts at 4.30pm.

Play to highlight horrors of war

MARK Anderson's World War One play, 'Furious Folly', is set to provide a spectacular piece of theatre when it arrives in Oxford this week.

By James Richings

Performed on the Magdalen College School field tomorrow night (Friday, June 17) and on Saturday (June 18), it uses musical instruments, special effects and fireworks, as well as actors, to describe the horror of the First World War.

And with the two performances taking place late in the evening, one of the actors Graeme Leak believes it is a show not to be missed.

"There are myriad things about performing that I love and it is impossible for me to say which one is best," Graeme said.

"But I love the magic that happens when all the elements of a show come into harmony and focus during a performance, and you feel the transformative power working on everyone and everything (including me) at once.

"Also, I guess you could say that the fact that it is happening outdoors and that it is free means there is no excuse to not go."

An anti-war production, the play takes place in the centenary year of the Battle of the Somme and also focuses on the aftermath of the Great War.

The play looks at how wars could be avoided and also focuses on the lives of soldiers who had to leave their families behind.

Graeme believes that audience members will leave the show with a tear or two in their eye.

He said: "It has moments of extreme volume from fireworks and a big sound system and it feels a bit scary sometimes for the audience.

"This piece illuminates aspects of WWI rarely mentioned.

"It speaks about things usually left out of the 'official' story – the protest movement, the role of women, the actions of trade unions, artists and deserters in response to the war, and the horrors of mental illness inflicted by shell-shock and terror.

"These are important things for all people to become aware of, young and old."

Both performances are free and start at 10pm.

The play is suitable for children aged 12 and over.

CHAPLIN – THE CHARLIE CHAPLIN STORY
Chaplin - The Charlie Chaplin Story is a heart warming and powerful musical tale of the first true British icon of cinema. This fascinating story weaves through Chaplin's early journey as a young boy through the dark streets of Victorian Vaudeville London to the glitz of early Hollywood.
Featuring an all star West End cast including Steven Arnold ("Ashley" in Coronation St) Nicole Faraday (Bad Girls, Emmerdale), and a full array of amazing Actor-Musicians ('Once', 'Buddy', 'The Commitments'), this beautiful and hilarious musical play follows Chaplin through his early career, showbiz ambitions and often-fractious relationship with his mother, family and his first love. An untold story too fascinating to be missed!

Brilliant Honda well worth a look

• The Honda Civic 1.6 i-DTEC EX

THE Civic is powered by a 1.6-litre i-DTEC diesel engine that produces 120PS and 300Nm of torque, which made overtaking in many situations a doddle.

As with most Honda engines, it is refined and pretty much perfect.

0-62 is also around 10.5 sec and a max speed of 128mph is achievable.

Honda also wanted to make the Civic go as far as possible on the least amount of fuel and, on a good run, I managed a staggering figure of 65.6mpg. I was not really trying either, I was just driving normally.

By Anthony Yates

On the road:

First off – great chassis, along with a suspension set-up that you know has taken Honda many hours of road testing to get just right.

The corners are a breeze and the bumps and potholes are dealt with easily with no dramas. Go into a corner a tad fiercer and you can really feel that chassis working to keep you firmly on the road.

Design and Interior:

Honda have carefully crafted the new Civic to give it a dynamic presence on the road and have introduced some neat bits like the sculpted headlights and a very wizzy rear spoiler which I am told will all help with fuel economy and lower emissions.

I also like the look of the Civic with its sharp lines and bold edges.

Inside, it's all good with a quality interior.

Technology:

The Civic is packed with Honda Connect Technology like AM/FM, DAB and Internet radio, Bluetooth connectivity, internet browsing, satellite navigation and a rear-view parking camera.

Honda Connect is also compatible with Android 4.0.4, the world's most popular smartphone operating system, and features the familiar pinch, swipe and tap functionality – all accessed through a seven-inch display screen.

The Civic range benefits from Honda's unique centre fuel tank layout. The tank is located under the front seats, allowing it to offer unparalleled interior space.

Safety:

This is where Honda really gets it right. Driver and passenger front/side airbags. Along with EBD, EBA and vehicle stability assist with hill start assist and city-brake active system.

Pay an extra £600 as an added option and you will get forward collision warning, traffic sign recognition, land departure warning, blind spot information and a host of extra safety features to keep you safe on the road. That is an option box well worth ticking.

To sum up: The Civic is a brilliant machine and is a car I would recommend you take a look at.

Price: (from) £26,200 OTR as tested including fitted options.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Notice of consultation on Blewbury Neighbourhood Development Plan Neighbourhood Planning (General) and amended regulation 2015 and Localism Act 2011, Regulation 16.

The subject matter
Blewbury Neighbourhood Plan Submission.

Details of the plan
Blewbury Parish Council (as a relevant body) have prepared a Neighbourhood Development Plan covering the Blewbury parish area. The plan aims to give local people more say about what happens in their area and provides a vision for the future for the area setting out planning policies which will be used to determine planning applications locally. The Blewbury Neighbourhood Development Plan's policies are primarily aimed at protecting the special rural character of the village and parish.

We are seeking your views on the plan. This consultation period runs from Thursday 16 June 2016 to Thursday 28 July 2016 closing at 4:30 pm. Following this consultation, the plan will be examined by an independent examiner.

Inspection
Online versions of the Neighbourhood Development Plan and supporting documents application are available to view on our website http://www.whitehorsedc.gov.uk/services-and-advice/planning-and-building/planning-policy/neighbourhood-plans and the Blewbury Neighbourhood Planning website https://blewburyneighbourhoodplan.org/ Hard copies are available for inspection at the district council offices (135 Eastern Avenue, Milton Park, Milton, OX14 4SB) Monday – Thursday 9.00 am – 5.00 pm and Friday 9.00 am – 4.30 pm.

How to respond
If you would like to make representations to the examiner on this Neighbourhood Development Plan then please submit them via our consultation portal which can be accessed from our webpage, or send them to planning.policy@whitehorsedc.gov.uk

Alternatively you can write to us at Neighbourhood Planning, Planning Policy, Vale of White Horse District Council, 135 Eastern Avenue, Milton Park, Milton, OX14 4SB.

Notification
Any representations may include a request to be notified of Vale of White Horse District Council's decision under regulation 19 (making a plan) to make the Neighbourhood Development Plan for the Blewbury Neighbourhood Area Plan. Please be aware that all comments that we receive will be publicly available and may be included on our website.

Trophy plans divide club and supporters

By Dominic Thomas

OXFORD United have cautiously agreed to trialling a new structure to the EFL Trophy - previously known as the Johnstone's Paint Trophy - at a league meeting last week.

The club agreed to alter the format of the new competition, which will introduce a restructuring into four-team groups, and the inclusion of 16 Premier League B-teams.

In a statement the club said its support for the proposals was strictly for one season only, "having taken the wider deep concerns for the future of the competition into consideration", and says it is strongly opposed to the introduction of the B-teams.

The club's chairman Darryl Eales voted against the proposals, but was overruled by the decision of the board, which was to "support the league's appeal to explore ways to secure the cup's future".

There has been widespread concern over the future of the competition, with clubs struggling to break even, but all clubs have agreed to the new proposals.

In a statement Oxford United, who reached the final of last year's competition, said: "After taking 34,000 fans to Wembley for the final this year, the club is a big supporter of the competition and greatly appreciates its value."

Along with the new proposals, the prize money for the trophy, which is yet to find a sponsor, will be doubled from next year.

The club also agreed to a number of new measures to encourage diversity and recommendations over governance, agreeing to hold at least two fans forums with a representative group of the club's supporters a year.

However supporters' trust OxVox voiced its disapproval of the plans on its website.

It said: "The trust is very disappointed to hear of the proposal passed to create a new format.

"The likelihood must be that the strongest of [the Premier League clubs] will prevail, and the prospect of reaching a Wembley final for League 1 and 2 clubs will recede."

The Trust also said it had spoken to Eales and stated: "He has given an undertaking to OxVox, which he is happy for us to make public, that in future the club will fully consult the trust prior to any similar situation requiring the club to express a view."

Banbury enjoy successful day as they beat Great Brickhill

BANBURY 2nds beat Great Brickhill by four wickets during Saturday's action in division one of the Cherwell Cricket League.

Justin and Jack Lambden scored 33 and 30 runs respectively as Banbury cleared Brickhill's score of 135 within 40 overs.

Meanwhile, Cumnor's Alex Davis top scored with 125 as they beat Dinton by three wickets.

They now lie one place below Banbury in fifth.

In division two, second-placed Abingdon Vale defeated Oxford 2nds by 95 runs as the latter only managed 100 runs from 20 overs before being bowled out, as top side Challow and Childley beat Sanford St Martin by just one wicket.

Elsewhere in the division, Oxford Downs drew with Buckingham Town 2nds, as Nick Rivett took three maidens in 12 overs.

In division three, Banbury 3rds leapfrogged Oxford Downs 2nds into seventh in the league, beating them by 88 runs.

Plato is aiming for more strong results

BRITISH Touring Car Championship (BTCC) racer Jason Plato will be hoping his team's return to form continues when they take to the track in Croft this weekend.

Last time out the Oxford-born Team BMR driver picked up three podium finishes at Oulton Park in the Subaru Levorg.

The hugely welcomed results came after the team had been forced to pull out of the meeting at Thruxton on May 8 with safety concerns.

Prior to that, his only points had come from a 13th-place finish in race two at the opening weekend's meeting at Brands Hatch.

Sunday's races start at 12.02pm, 2.39pm and 5.06pm.

It has also been announced that the BTCC calendar will remain the same for a sixth successive season in 2017.

Brands Hatch again bookends the season with racing on April 2 and October 1, with the same order of meetings at Donington Park, Thruxton, Oulton Park, Croft, Snetterton, Knockhill, Rockingham and Silverstone in between.

Oxford foursome meet Henman at tournament

By Katie Falkingham

IT'S not every day you get to meet your sporting idol, but that is exactly what happened to four members of David Lloyd Oxford's tennis club after they reached the national finals of the inaugural Jaguar Championships.

Chris Donnellan, Kathryn Hampshire, Sam Satish and Rose Simpson faced stiff competition from seven other teams at David Lloyd's Raynes Park facility in London on Sunday, watched on by former British number one Tim Henman.

The Jaguar Championships saw 1,200 players from up and down the country battle it out for a spot in Sunday's finals, where a prize of Wimbledon quarter-finals tickets were up for grabs.

And while Oxford were not victorious on the day, 37-year-old Donnellan admitted the opportunity to meet a British hero capped off a thrilling day in South London.

"Coming from Ireland, we don't have too many top players so Tim would have been the closest," said Donnellan, a construction site manager.

"I think he was very unfortunate not to win a Grand Slam as he was a fantastic player.

"He was a great guy, very friendly, gave us a couple of tips and he's an all round nice guy and a great ambassador for the game."

David Lloyd launched The Jaguar Championships, an inaugural mixed-doubles event which will now feature as part of it 2016 Total Tennis calendar.

Jaguar ambassador Henman was the star attraction at the event as he watched all the action get underway.

And after taking to the umpire's chair to oversee the day's finals, the 41-year-old admits he was impressed with the talent on show.

"For me, one of the most important things about the Jaguar Championships is the participation, getting more and more people into the game," he said.

"I've been very impressed with what I've seen."

New name for Banbury's Spencer Stadium

BANBURY United's Spencer Stadium has been renamed as part of a three year sponsorship deal worth an annual five-figure sum to the club.

The ground will now be known as The Banbury Plant Hire Community Stadium, following discussions with the company over the last six months.

Signage will be placed around the ground as well as on all the club's literature, website, and social media.

Banbury United chairman Ronnie Johnson said: "This is a fabulous, eye-catching sponsorship for both parties, so we're very grateful to everyone at Banbury Plant Hire for making it happen.

"We can assure fans that we'll be looking at some way to incorporating our Spencer roots into an area of the stadium, so that we always remember the history of our great club."

Nathan Matthews, director of Banbury Plant Hire, added: "We've had pitch advertising with the club for a number of years, but now the club is fan owned we wanted to support it in a much bigger way.

"We've signed a deal for the next three years which shows the fans we're fully committed to them.

"Hopefully we'll be involved beyond the initial term, because from our perspective the club is going places."

Oxford RL mauled by Bears

OXFORD RL weren't able to build upon last weekend's victory over Hemel Stags as they lost 48-10 away to the Coventry Bears on Saturday.

The Bears produced a dominant display, condemning Oxford to their 10th defeat in 11 games so far this season.

James Geurtjens, Jack Morrison, Joel James, Eddie Medforth and Jay Lobwein helped the Bears establish an early lead, which Oxford would not be able to catch.

The visitors did manage to get some points on the board as Danny Allan found Aaron Nicholson for a try.

Just before the end of the first half Oxford came close again as Allan weaved his way around the defence before Jordan Siddons was held up.

But the Bears immediately fought back to touch down through Medforth.

Coventry continued to pile on the scores in the second half, with Allan able to restore a bit of pride in the closing stages as he went over, although there was still time for Chris Bartlett to get one more try for the Bears.

The result leaves Oxford 13th out of 15 in the Kingstone Press League 1 standings, with just the two points from last week's win against Hemel.

It is Hemel and South Wales Scorpions who are the only two sides below Oxford in the table, with both also having two points but having conceded more often in their matches.

Oxford's next game is at home to York City Knights on Saturday afternoon.

Three more signings for Stars

OXFORD City Stars have continued their preparations for the new season by signing three defensive players in the past week.

Joonas Liimatainen and Mark Duffy are new additions to the squad, while Jake Florey put pen to paper and re-signed for another year.

Liimatainen joins from Finnish outfit Koillis-Pirkan Kiekko, although he has previously iced in the UK Elite League for both the Dundee Stars and Cardiff Devils.

The 24-year-old averaged over a point a game last season, and comes to the city as he prepares to study at Oxford University.

He said: "I feel extremely fortunate that the Oxford City Stars wanted to sign me for the upcoming season and we could get everything sorted out."

Meanwhile, 28-year-old netminder Duffy has also been brought in from Bracknell Hornets, having spent the last two seasons in Berkshire.

He said: "I expect to be in with a chance to win every game against any team Oxford plays, and I'm looking forward to finishing the season with a long play-off run too."

And 21-year-old Florey has joined his older brother Josh in committing to the Stars for another season.

He has already played 85 times for Oxford, and has been showing his potential over the last year.

He said: "I'm looking forward to the season starting and hopefully we can keep up the good performances and beat some of the top teams again."

New managers

FOOTBALL: Didcot Town have confirmed Chris Hurley and Ieuan Morgan as the reserve and under-18 managers.

Hurley comes with vast experience having previously had managerial roles at Witney Town, Clanfield 85 and Bicester Town.

Also joining the coaching setup are Adam Bradley and Jeff Simmonds, both of whom have worked with Hurley before.

And Morgan, who also works as a coach at The Arsenal Soccer Schools, also joins Didcot having recently been involved in the Carterton youth setup.

Pitch delay

FOOTBALL: Oxford City have confirmed they will not be able to get their plans for a 3G pitch in place for the coming season.

City had been looking to replace their pitch at Marsh Lane over the summer, but construction changes mean it wouldn't be ready in time for an inspection deadline next month.

It comes after defender Freddie Grant was signed by City for next season, having been released by Oxford United.

Rugby fixtures

RUGBY: The fixture list for the National League 2 South have been released.

Henley Hawks will travel to play Redruth in their first match of the new season on September 3, while Chinnor will host London Irish WG.

The two Oxfordshire sides then face each other in their second match, with Henley hosting.

And the season ends on April 29, with both teams playing the reverse fixtures of their opening day games.

Tiddington dismissed for just 91 in dominant Didcot display

Strong bowling as Didcot secure win

By Adam Flinn

DIDCOT Cricket Club put in a devastating bowling display as they took a dominant 127-run victory against Tiddington 2nds on Saturday afternoon.

Having set a target of 218, Didcot then promptly dismissed Tiddington for just 91 as they earned their first win since May 14.

Didcot batted first and reached 30 runs before Simon Pritchard (17) was caught by Jacob Davies.

Ian Demain (28) was then caught with Didcot on 80, before Karl Johnston was clean bowled with the very next ball as he went for zero.

Things settled down and Thamindu Wedatilake (10) and Aiden Kammel (22) got some more runs on the board before they were both caught.

However, the star batting performance was from Elliot Matthews, who was finally dismissed for 83 from 118 balls as he too was caught.

And when Robert Keat went shortly afterwards for 25, Tiddington quickly cleared up the remaining batters of Ranjit Singh (1), Andy Griffiths (1) and Ryan Higgins (1), leaving Daniel Hall on a not out 10 and Didcot on 218.

Tiddington then stepped up to bat, and made a respectable start to their innings as they reached 40 without loss.

But Didcot's bowlers soon found their form, with Kammel, Keat and Matthews collecting three wickets each, and Griffiths getting the other.

John Mackie (9) went first, quickly followed by top scorer Nathan Brooks (30) – both courtesy of Kammel.

Dan West then went for one, with Jeff Higgs dismissed next for 12 to leave Tiddington on 67-4.

And the remaining batsmen couldn't make much progress as Andrew Cashman (2), Jacob Davies (12), Patrick Knightley (5), Ellie Noble (0), Peter Holland (6) and Luke Hurley (0) left them all out for 91.

The result moves Didcot up to third place in division three of the Cherwell Cricket League with 98 points, within 13 of leaders Great Brickhill 2nds.

And it is Great Brickhill that Didcot play at home in their next match on Saturday.

Cautious approval from U's to trophy changes

OXFORD United have given their approval to changes to the Johnstone's Paint Trophy – for one season at least.

Plans to change the trophy – now known as the EFL trophy after its sponsorship deal ended – include allowing Premier League B-teams to take part in the competition.

However supporters' trust OxVox said it was "disappointed" with the proposals, amid fears that it will lead to the Premier League sides dominating.

WITH HEARPLAN YOU HAVE PEACE OF MIND

Normally, when you buy hearing aids you are also paying for all of your initial assessments, fitting fees and ongoing hearing tests and care, but we realise that paying for all of this in one go can sometimes be prohibitive and not all hearing aid users require the same level of aftercare and end up paying for something they do not use.
So we have introduced HearPlan.

For a monthly subscription you will receive:

- All of the care and support you need to improve your hearing
- £200.00 off the cost of each hearing instrument.
- Preferential pricing on new technology if you choose to upgrade your hearing aid
- Offers on accessories that you may need to help you hear in every environment.
